Easter Bells Ringing for Washington Brides

By MARY MARSHALL.

IN THE brilliance of the Easter season, the Easter bride is the cynosure of interest, and Easter lilies, cloudless skies, and the bright sunshine of early spring will be the background for a number of weddings during the next few weeks. Easter bells and marriage bells will ring simultaneously tomorrow when Miss Genevieve Walsh, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, becomes the bride of Paymaster Emmet C. Gudger, U. S. N. The wedding will take place in the ballroom at the Highlands where Senator and Mrs. Walsh have a charming apartment, and will be followed by a large reception. The bridal party includes Mrs. Sherman Hibbard, of Kansas City, and Mrs. George Lyon Hibbard, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., both classmates of the bride-elect at Vassar. Little Miss Katherine Langley, niece of Paymaster Gudger, will be the flower girl. Mr. Pearson Loose, of Philadelphia, will be best man, and the ushers, all navy men, will be Lieut. Todd, Dr. Wheeler, and Lieut. Lee, of the Mayflower, and Ensign Byrd, of the Dolphin. After a honeymoon jaunt Paymaster Gudger will take his bride to an attractive new home at 1737 K street.

The popular young couple have been the recipients of much attention during the past week. Miss Dorothy Dennett entertained at dinner in their honor Thursday evening, and Mrs. W. W. Dixon gave a luncheon for the bride-elect yesterday. The entire bridal party was entertained by Paymaster Gudger last evening at a dinner dance aboard the Mayflower, and will be the guests of Senator and Mrs. Walsh at dinner today.

Another much-feted Easter bride is Miss Marian Van Buren, whose marriage to the Rev. Stanley Matthews Cleveland, of New York, will take place April 17. The ceremony will be performed at historic old St. John's Church, which has been the scene of so many brilliant weddings. Bishop Matthews, of New York, will officiate, and the Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith will assist in the chancel. In the bridal party will be Mrs. George Harding and Miss Phoebe Adams, whose marriage takes place the Commissioner of Patents and Mrs. Thomas Ewing, and Mr. Newbold Noyes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes. Both young people are socially prominent in Washington and extremely popular. Miss Ewing made her debut here last December at one of the most brilliant teas of the winter, and has since taken an active part in society both here and in Philadelphia. Mr. Noyes is a recent graduate of Yale and is starting a career in journalism, which, judging from precedent, should be an enormous success.

Mr. W. W. Dixon was hostess at luncheon yesterday at the Willard in honor of Miss Genevieve Walsh and Paymaster Emmet C. Gudger, U. S. N., whose marriage takes place next Monday afternoon. The luncheon was served in the red room and the guests, thirty-two in number, were seated around a table attractively decorated with white spring blossoms and ferns.

The Misses Breckinridge, daughters of Gen. Joseph C. Breckinridge, entertained at a fancy dress party at Raucher's yesterday afternoon in honor of their niece and nephews, Miss Dudley Breckinridge, and Cabell and Billy Breckinridge, children of the late Capt. Ethelbert Breckinridge.

MISS NONA McADOO, who is nursing the wounded soldiers in Southern France.

younger set. A gay party will arrive in Washington within a few days to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Barr until after the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. William Starr Myers, of Princeton, the latter formerly Miss Margaret Barr; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lee Alexander, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Simmons, of Hagerstown, Md., will be in the party.

The marriage ceremony will be performed in the apartment of the bride's parents, at the Wyoming, and a large reception will follow. The future home of the young couple will be in Chicago.

On the following day, Miss Catherine Birney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Birney, will be married to Ensign James Hale Strong, U. S. N. Mrs. F. Marion Barker, formerly Miss Edith Birney, and remembered for her charm and popularity, will be her sister's matron of honor, and also in the wedding party will be Miss Lillian Birney, Miss Marie Adams, Miss Hazel Cox, and Miss Josephine Newell, of Baltimore. Little Misses Helen and Agatha Varcla, nieces of the bride-elect, and Miss Edith Cantz, of Baltimore, will be the flower girls.

Miss Birney has planned a quiet home wedding, but the ceremony will be followed by a brilliant reception to which a large number of the friends of the young couple are bidden. After the honeymoon, Ensign Strong will take his bride to Newport, R. I., where he is stationed at present.

Miss Ruth Bliss, daughter of Mrs. George Bliss, and Capt. Lewis Hayes Watkins, U. S. A., will also have a spring wedding. The exact date depends on when Capt. Watkins can secure leave of absence, but it is understood that the marriage will take place in early May.

Engagements have their place, too, in the Easter season. The most interesting announcement of the past week was that of the engagement of Miss Alexandra Ewing, daughter of inridge, U. S. A., and Mrs. Breckinridge. The guests, numbering about 20, included children from the diplomatic, official and residential circles. Dancing, games of all sorts, and a "Punch and Judy" show were among the features of the entertainment.

Assisting the Misses Breckinridge were Mrs. Arthur Lee, Mrs. William D. MacDougall, Miss Gertrude Greely, Miss Margaret Draper, Miss Alexandrine Fitch, and Miss Henrietta Fitch, Miss O. J. Hemphill, and Miss Plowden, of England, who is the guest of the Russian Military Attache and Mme. Golejewski.

Miss Dudley Breckinridge represented the Infanta Maria Marguerita in an exquisite gown of pale blue and coral after Velasquez's famous painting. Cabell Breckinridge was King John and Billy Breckinridge was a Cossack. Little Miss Mary Hines, Miss Louise Hines, and Master John Hines, children of Mrs. John Fore Hines, of Annapolis, who is a sister of the Misses Breckinridge, represented Peggy Stuart, the Countess Philippa, and Patrick Henry, respectively. John Breckinridge, the small son of Dr. and Mrs. Scott Dudley Breckinridge, went as Baby Stuart, and Miss Dorothy Paine, daughter of Mrs. Ethelbert Breckinridge's sister, Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, of Boston, wore a Greek costume, representative of Terpsichore. The two little house guests of the Misses Breckinridge, Jay and Julia McCoy, went as a Cossack and a Norwegian bride.

Among the other guests were the sons of the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels, Miss Sallie McAdoo, John Bryan, Annie Bruce Lee, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Lee, and her two brothers; little Miss Cynthia Hussell, daughter of the Charge d'Affaires of Turkey and Mme. Hussell; Sonia and Kara Golejewski, Frances Hopkins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nevil Monroe Hopkins, and the two children of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Hopkins; Vilas, the small son of the Siamese Minister and Lady Franks, Karavong; Elsie Ekengren, Marie and James Ragdale, John and Cabot Lodge, Jr. and Mrs. Wolcott Tuckerman's four youngsters, Laura Tuckerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman; Houston Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Gallard Hunt's children, Mrs. Fred Brook's daughter, Frances McKee; Robert and Lewis Roosevelt, Roman and Arthur Hepburn, Dudley Knox, Laura Bryn, Jean Curtis Osborne and Anita Bulmer, daughter of Commander A. J. Roscoe Bulmer, of Annapolis.

Col. Charles Page Bryan gave a luncheon yesterday for Princess L'Orfi Faraghy. The other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Seaman, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor, and Miss Campbell, of Chicago; Mrs. and Miss Morris Evans, Miss Gladys Hinchley, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Waller Page, Maj. Gen. Brewster, Lieut. Fedotoff, of the Russian Embassy and Mr. Godoy, of the Brazilian Embassy; Mr. Hubacher, secretary of the Swiss Legation; Mr. Russdorf, of
